The pure milk question is becoming taken up by the courts. Several cases have occurred in Iowa under a law of that state prohibiting the addition of water or any other substance to milk offered for sale. The courts hold that the law is constitutional. They nal of the state. leclare further that if the substances mixed in the milk are not deleterious, even if they are used only to preserve its sweetness and who is guilty of offering the sophisticated milk for sale must pay the penalties of the law. Statutes against the sale of impure or even diuted mixtures as milk cannot be too rigid and cannot be too rigidly enforced.

Over a century ago Benjamin Franklin discussed the property qualification for voting in Pennsylvania. A man owned a donkey of sufficient value to enable him to vote; but before the next election the donkey died, and the man's vote was refused. "Now," asked Franklin, "who voted at the previous election-the man or the donkey?" A few weeks before he returned to America Mark Twain went to consult a well-known West End dentist in London noted for keeping his patients waiting a long time, and for indifference to the age of the magazines and papers left on his waitingroom table to beguile their tedium Mr. Clemens was kept waiting for a solid hour, and when his turn came his patience had given out. But he contented himself, as he entered the consulting-room, with the caustic remark: "I see, by your papers, that there is prospect of war with the Transvaal!"

EQUALITY IN TAXATION

Tickets on sale That Is What the Republican Party Demands.

DEMOGRATS TAKE THE OPPOSITE.

They Demand Excessive Taxation of Corporations, Instead of Having Them Pay Into the Treasury Their Fair and Proper Share of the Tax

or impair the record of the Republican party on the subject of taxation of corporate franchises, they will be sadly disappointed. The position of the Republican party on this subject is impregnable. It has a distinct and admirable record in respect to taxation, and by that record it was stand firm and undismayed. There will be no dodging or shifting, or evasion of the issue. The facts show that the only rational and equitable tax laws of the state have been written on the statute book by the Republican party. The returns in the office of the Auditor of state show that a large and growing revenue has been assessed and collected from corporations, as a result of laws enacted by a Republican administration. But we shall go farther. We shall show, by the history and development of the tax laws of the state, and by the decisions of the supreme court in respect thereto, that the Republican party has originated and enforced just and equitable laws for the taxation of corporate franchises-despite very serious legal objections-and that the party has extended the system of taxation of corporate franchises just as far as the Ohio constitution will permit. Before further legislation on this subject can be enacted, the state constitution of such importance that it has been mus be amended to give the legislature the necessary power. Such is the status of the question, as will be shown by a sufficient review of the history of the legislation in respect to taxation, and the review of such legislation by the highest justice tribu-

> The Ohio Republican platform for 1891 contains this provision:

"We favor such a revision of the tax laws of the state as will require without intent to defraud, the dealer all classes of property to bear their equal an djust share of taxation, and we recommend the creation of such machinery for fixing and equalizing valuations as will be adequate at all times to correct error and take notice of changes in value." The position of the party is thus clearly and unequivocally stated. The party not only recognize the necessity for a revision of the tax laws of the state, but it demands "the creation of such machinery for fixing and equal- property or business. is "outrageous" to kill the "little izing valuations" as will enable the harmless insects," and that all that state to levy and collect a fair and its experience, capacity and indicate is necessary is to reason with them. just amount of taxes from all classes in the concurrent and execution of She says: "If a mosquito is troub- of property; and, further, "to correct just and equitable tax laws, and inling you just speak to him kindly and error and take notice of changes in vitez the confidence of the people in say: 'Look here, my friend, you value," It is the purpose of the party, this respect. The people do not dare leave me alone, and I'll leave you therefore, not to enact any radical or entrust the power to effect a revision unjust legislation-thus creating work of the tax laws of the state to the for the supreme court to undo, simed Democratic party, lost that party at any one class of property-but, as abuse is powers, and accomplish more clearly stated in the platform, to en- injury to the state by driving out valuact appropriate legislation which will able enterprises than would be gained compel "all classes of property to by the imposition of additional taxes. bear their equal and just share of Entrusted with the control of the ma-taxation." corporations shall be subjected to new and onerous burdens-the precise character of which is not clearly defined. The Ohio Democratic platform declares:

"Steam and electric railroads and other corporations possessing public franchises shall be assessed in the same proportion to their salable value as are farms and city real estate."

Now the Democrats propose a reme dy which has been attempted before, but which has been negatived by the supreme court, as repugnant to the constitution. The constitution is the paramount law of the state, and the supreme court will not permit the enforcement of any law which may be in hostility to it. Therefore, any further attempts to tax the franchises of corporations, without a further grant of constitutional authority, will be a sheer waste of time-a futile and and senseless undertaking. If corporate franchises are to be taxed, the people must consent to an amendment to the constitution giving to the legislature authority to enact a statute to that effect. Until such action is taken, the taxation of corporate franchises

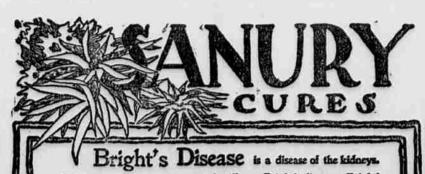

The Republican platform further declares:

"During the last ten years the general assembly has increased the revenues of the state by forms of taxation other than by levies upon real and personal property. We favor further legislation in this direction, to the end that the burden of taxation upon property may be lessened, and we denounce any scheme which aims to cast the entire burden of taxation upon real estate."

SANURY cures the kidneys and will cure Bright's disease. Bright's disease carries away a great many victims every day. The kidneys are broken down and inflamed. A septic condition exists in them. There is need of an antiseptic and germicidal treatment. The kidneys need to be flushed as well. A good distretic to flush the kidneys and a good germicide and antiseptic to stop the wasting of the tissue of the kidney itself and to reduce the inflammation of that organ are needed. All are found in SANURY. SANURY is to be relied on in Bright's disease more than any other medicine. SANURY will certainly cure if taken in time.

Under this clause of its platform, the party declares in favor of a proper equalization of taxes upon all classes of property, and denounces all at tempts to effect an indiscriminate taxation of any one form of property. in order that another form may escape its just share of the public burdens. Summed up, then, the demand of the party is for a general revision of the tax laws, and an equal and just distribution of the public burdens upon all classes of property alike, without any discrimination in favor of one class of property, or attempts to saddle upon another class more than a fair and just proportion of taxation. The party demands justice and equality in this, as in all other forms of legislation. In attempting a revision of the tax laws of the state, the Republican party will, if entrusted with that duty, frame a system of taxation based upon an inquiry in respect to the character and true values of all kinds of property real or personal, and of the property and franchises of corporations, to the end that justice may be administered to all classes of property owners alike. No efforts will be made to impose a special or unjust scheme of taxation upon corporations; such organizations will be required to bear their just and fair proportion of the public burdens, regardless of the kind or character of their
